INTRODUCTION

Welcome to the lexicon of Na'vi language! Here, you will find all the special and weird things that connect the different words of the Na'vi language. This document will attempt to list, among other things, homographs (words with the same orthography), homophones (words with the same pronunciation), paronyms (words with close orthography that may be confused), eponyms (words derived from someone's name) and palindromes (words that give the same word when the spelling is reversed).

This document will also attempt to list all the synonyms (words with roughly the same meaning) and antonyms (words with opposite meaning) in the Na'vi language. Please note that not every word in Na'vi has an antonym even if it exists in English.

Some words might be missing; feel free to tell me! The same goes for mistakes.

A GUIDE TO FORMATTING

This document will use several recurring formats as a visual indication of examples. For your convenience, here is a list of formats that you are going to see and what they mean.

Na'vi words will be marked by bold.

Translations will be marked by italics.

Stress will be marked by underline (for homonyms).
